CONSENTS TO AGAIN PRESIDE OVER BOARD OF CHARITIES.

It was ascertained by The Star today that for the second time within a year Mr. Samuel W. Woodward, president of the board of charities, was yesterday prevailed upon to withdraw his resignation as a mem ber of that board, and that he has consented to remain as its president for at least another year. Several months ago it developed that Mr. Woodward had asked to be relieved of further service on the board of charities, and early in January of this year something akin to a sensation was occasioned when it developed that several influential members of the board were on the point of tendering their resignations on account of friction in the control of local charities. As a result of the conditions a onference was held with the President at the White House, after which it was announced that the officers and members of the board would retain their places. Mr. Woodward about a month ago asked

Commissioner Macfarland, who has supervision over the board of charities, to pre sent his resignation to President Roosevelt the members of the board of charities being appointed by the President, but serving under the Commissioners. Mr. Woodward's desire to be relieved of further service on the board, it is stated, was not due to dis-satisfaction over any conditions, but he gave as his reason for wishing to resign the great pressure of other duties of a public and private character, including those connected with the erection of the new Young Men's Christian Association build-ing. These duties, Mr. Woodward said, made it very desirable for him to be re-lieved from the board of charities, to which ne had given four years' service. Commissioner Macfarland obtained Mr. Woodward's consent to defer presenting the resignation to the President until after they had conferred more fully about the matter. The Commissioner and Mr. Woodward had a conference yesterday after-

Commissioner Macfarland assured Mr. Woodward that he appreciated the circumstances which had prompted the latter to request that his resignation be accepted; but that nevertheless, he felt that Mr. Woodward could not be spared at present from the Board of Charities, in view of the close personal relation he sustained to all the reforms and improvements in the public charity system now in progress.

Mr. Macfarland pointed out to Mr. Woodward that the progressive improvements in the appropriation acts, and especially the, provision in the appropriation act for next year, carrying out the recommendation of the Board of Charities and of the Com misjoners, are at once encouraging and exacting in their effects upon the members of the board and stimulate and require their united action to see that the new order of things is well established.

Mr. Macfarland also declared to Mr. Woodward that he felt sure that no new policies of the board, could take the place of the present president of the board, who has had the experience of four years' close personal interest in the affairs of the

Wr. Woodward, it is understood, felt the incouragement and responsibility of the recent legislation of Congress, and after con sidering the matter carefully he finally con-sented to withdraw his request for resignation. Mr. Macfarland was very much gratified at Mr. Woodward's action, and thanked him for this additional proof of his great public spirit, as well as for the notable service which he has already rendered in the board of charities.

BEGIN MONDAY.

Provisions of the Instrument - Property Left in Trust to Designated Executors.

The introduction of testimony will be started next Monday before Justice Gould and a jury in the Probate Court, in the contested will case involving the estate of Henry Kengla, deceased. Mr. Kengla died in this city January 13, 1903. He owned about 118 acres of land near Tenleytown and five lots, with improvements, in Georgetown, the value of all of his real estate being about $125,000. In addition he owned sundry horses and wagons and other personal property, and had about $22,000 cash in bank. His debts were comparatively small. Mr. Kengla was never married, and he left no father, mother, brother or sister living. His next of kin nd heirs-at-law are certain children and grandchildren of his deceased brother, Louis Kengla. Mr. Kengia, November 27, 1895, executed a will naming Ephraim S. Randall and George C. Payne executors. Mr. Payne died prior to the demise of Mr. Kengla, and January 17, 1963, Mr. Randall filed a peti-tion asking that the will be admitted to probate and that letters testamentary be issued to him.

The Bequests Made.

By the terms of the alleged will Mr. Kengla left the estate to the executors named, in trust, to pay, among other things, the following legacies:

To his nephew, Joseph T. Kengla, $10,000; to his niece. Maggie Lydane, $10,000; to his niece, Theresa Lydane, $10,000; to Louisa S. Randall, $10,000; to Elizabeth Homiller, $3,000; to James H. Taylor, $5000; to George C. Payne, $5,000; to Estelle S. Randall, $5,000; to Henry S. Randall, $5,000; to Elizabeth S. Randall, $5,000; to Sarah Britt, $2,000; to Samuel Knott, $10,000; to his nephew, Harry Greene, $5,000; to his nephew, Low Kengla, $5,000, and to Charlotte Hill, $1,000.

After providing for certain other minor matters it was directed in the will that the executors turn over the balance of the estate to Joseph T. Kengla, Maggie Lydane, Theresa Lydane, Louisa S. Randall and Answering Mr. Randall's petition for let-ters testamentary, Louis C. Kengla, Wm. F. Kengla, Charles R. Kengla and Guida A. Kengla charged that Henry Kengla was induced to execute the paper writing of March 27, 1895, "by fraud, undue influ-ence and importunities practiced and exercised upon him by Ephraim S. Randall and one Elizabeth Homiller and others, when his mind was in such weak and enfeebled condition that he was unable to withstand their importunities, and that the paper writing is not the will of Henry Kengla. and is absolutely void and of no effect in law, and should be refused probate."

Points Before Jury.

The jury will be called upon to decide whether or not the paper-writing of November 27, 1895, was executed by Mr. Kengla in the form of law; whether or not, at the time, he was of sound and disposing mind and capable of executing a valid deed or contract, and whether or not the execution of the instrument was procured by the fraud or the undue influence of Ephraim S. Randall and Elizabeth Homiller, or of either of them, or of any other person or persons. Attorneys A. S. Worthington and Joseph D Wright represent Mr. Randall, the caveatee, and Attorneys Michael J. MR. WOODWARD STAYS KENGLA WILL CONTEST LAST RITES OVER DEAD

INTRODUCTION OF TESTIMONY TO FUNERAL OF JACQUES JOUVENAL TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

> Funeral services will be held over the remains of Jacques Jouvenal, the local sculptor, whose death was announced yesterday in The Star, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from his late residence, 311 K street northwest. Mr. Jouvenal was one of the best known citizens ter was convicted of killing Wm. Chandler of the District and won fame by his execution of the statue of Benjamin Franklin, near the corner of 10th and Pennsylvania avenue; the bust of Baron Steuben, at the German Orphan Asylum, which was unveiled by President Grant; busts of Jefferson, Van Buren and Webster in the Senate chamber, and other works of note. He was the oldest member of National Lodge, No. 12, of the Masonic order, having been connected with the lodge for forty-nine years. The services tomorrow will be conducted according to Masonic rites, and Rev. Dr. Mentzel, pastor of the Concordia Lutheran Church, will officiate. Interment will be made in Rock Creek cemetery.

At the time of his death Mr. Jouvenal was engaged in sculptural work. He had lost little of his vigor. On the day of his death he had attained his seventy-sixth birthday Mr. Jouvenal leaves a wife, Mrs. Marie Jouvenal; two sons, Rudolph, who cut the capstone and the keystone of the Washington monument, and Adolph, who erected the Martin Luther statue and aided in the erection of the Sherman statute, and four daughters, Mrs. Madison Fielder, Mrs. F. Steinle, Mrs. Steve Boswell and Miss Minnie Jouvenal.

Fire Losses.

"I was really surprised at the immediate adjustment made of the loss we sustained at the fire. I had supposed there were certain technical formalities to go through with before receiving relief. It is certainly the part of wisdom to do business with the right company. I am thankful for my discrimination and grateful for the company's promptness." Let us protect your house and furniture.
